Local Board 76 Boys Start for France

About seventy-five boys left last Thursday morning from Local Board No. 76 for Columbia, S. C. A touch of gaiety was lent to the occasion by a parade and band. The Auxiliary to Local Board 76 served breakfast to the boys and gave them each a package.

The Auxiliary is doing a great work to keep the boys comfortable and supplied with the little things that help to make life pleasant in camp.

Every person in this district should belong to the Auxiliary. If you want any information see Mr. Laing at the Cosmo Theatre.

A Friend.

There are two elements that go to the composition of friendship, each so sovereign that I detect no superiority in either, no reason why either should be the first named. One is truth. A friend is a person with whom I can be sincere. The other element of friendship is tenderness. When a man becomes dear to me I have touched the goal of fortune.—Emerson.

Production of Leghorns.

The average production of eggs by hens of all kinds and ages in the United States is 85. Unselected White Leghorns, however, produce an average of 130 eggs for the first year, 120 for the second, 110 for the third, 85 for the fourth and fall about 10 a year up to the eighth. These figures are from a bulletin of the Utah experiment station. If the first year production be low, the second will be high, and vice versa, the total production for three years being about the same.

Uncle Sam Is a Movie Producer

Into the widely popular domain of motion picture entertainment has come a new and powerful factor. Uncle Sam is now a movie manager. Co-ordination is the dynamo of efficiency and centralization of control its starting lever. Recognizing the great value of the movie, the United States Government has taken over the work of visualizing on the screen the scenes of the Great War in order to show a pictorial history of what is being done over here and over there.

The New York Tribune recently said: "This is the first war of submarines and aeroplanes—and it is also the first war of movies. Just at present we should rate the movie as the most powerful ally that hard-pressed democracy has yet been able to summon to her side." In order that this powerful weapon may be utilized to its utmost, the Committee on Public Information of which George Creel is chairman, now controls the work of the United States Signal Corps and Navy Photographers and arrangements have been made whereby the Committee will also handle the work of official photographers of France, England and Italy.

With this comprehensive material at its command the movie history of the war will be co-ordinated so that instead of detached scenes sandwiched in with other views it will be shown in complete episodes. There will be a series of big feature pictures under the direction of H. C. Hoagland, the first of which, entitled "Pershing's Crusaders," will be shown here at the Cosmo Wednesday and Thursday, July 3rd and 4th.

While it is true that moving pictures were shown of the Russo-Japanese, Balkan and Spanish-American wars, they were mainly isolated scenes, taken in a rather crude manner. They were never assembled with the purpose of showing the progression of events with historical continuity.

D. W. Griffith once said that some day the movie would supersede the printed page in the teaching of history. It has, at any rate, become an equally potent power with the press in moulding public opinion. Recognizing this power, the United States has taken this step so that the real truth about the war shall be shown on the screen. Utilizing this new strong arm of the service, Uncle Sam can the more readily dissipate and overwhelm the insidious lies of the Hun.

"Pershing's Crusaders" is distributed by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc.

First German Prisoners Can Be Seen at the Cosmo

The first German prisoners taken by American troops in France will be on exhibition at the Cosmo Wednesday and Thursday, July 3rd and 4th. At best they are not a handsome group, these Huns who fell into the hands of Pershing's men after a brief call by the Sammies on a Boche trench.

There are a score or more of them, including two officers who reluctantly gave the camera man a glimpse of their Prussian profiles after a polite request that the American people would like to see something besides their highly indignant backs. One of them is trying to look as much like the Crown Prince as possible.

This scene is only one of many in "Pershing's Crusaders," the big Government feature film, showing at the Cosmo Wednesday and Thursday, July 3rd and 4th, that have come straight from the American trenches.

For the first time in this country the public will have a chance to see what our boys have done to get ready and what they are doing "Over There."

So Sensitive!

An attorney was consulted by a woman desirous of bringing action against her husband for a divorce.

She related a harrowing tale of the ill treatment she had received at his hands. So impressive was her recital that the lawyer, for a moment, was startled out of his usual professional composure.

"From what you say this man must be a brute of the worst type!" he exclaimed.

The applicant for divorce arose and with severe dignity announced:

"Sir, I shall consult another lawyer. I came here to get advice as to a divorce, not to hear my husband abused!"—New York Times.

COSMOPOLITAN THEATRE,
Geo. M. Laing, Mgr.

When a ship is sunk or otherwise persihes that part of her cargo that floats on the sea is termed flotsam. It is jetsam when the ship is in danger of being sunk, and to lighten her the goods are cast into the sea.

Luke McLuke Says:

The man who announces that no petticoat will ever boss him isn't a brave man. He is just a plain, common every day liar.

A man will spend a whole winter learning a system that will beat the races. But it usually only takes one afternoon at the track to make him forget the system.

Most of us do not care a hang where charity begins. What we are interested in is where it ends.

Judging from some of the male animals women marry, it must be mighty lonesome to be an old maid.

A real boy never looks in the mirror to see if his face is clean after he has washed himself. He looks at the towel.

The old fashioned man who used to get shot while he was protecting his wife now has a son whose wife shoots him when she is protecting her affinity.

In time of peace a king is expected to kiss other kings when he meets them. After all, war isn't so terrible.

Solomon had about 700 lady friends, yet he was considered the wisest man. Nowadays when a man is caught with two lady friends he is pinched and his sanity is investigated.

When friend wife is the prosecuting attorney and friend husband is the defendant, the prosecuting attorney always secures a conviction.

This would be a better world if the reformers would begin on themselves.

There are a lot of good people in the world who take off their hats to a wholesale liquor dealer and regard a saloon keeper as beneath their notice.

There was a time when men wore plumes and sashes and tights on the street. But to their credit let it be said that their clothes never fastened in the back.

TO SILVER MIRRORS.

How They Should Be Treated With a Nitrate Solution.

Thoroughly clean the surface with soap and warm water, to which add a few drops of lye. Rub the surface dry and then keep it covered to protect from dust. A wall of putty or clay should be built about two inches away from the spot to be repaired, being very careful not to touch the clean surface. This is to serve as a reservoir for the silvering bath. For each nine square inches to be covered pour one-half ounce of a 3 per cent solution of silver nitrate. To this add ammonia water, drop by drop, until a light brown sediment appears and does not dissolve. There should be a very small quantity of this sediment produced.

Dissolve a piece of glucose about one-fourth inch square in a half ounce of water. Warm the solution and add to the nitrate solution on the mirror, which should be in a warm place protected from dust and allowed to remain for twelve hours. Pour off the solution, dry, remove all traces of putty, etc., then cover the entire surface with shellac.

Diluted nitric acid will dissolve the silvering from a piece of glass.

How to Kill Moths, and Other Useful Household Hints.

Here is an excellent way to kill moths in carpets which never fails: Wring a coarse crash towel out of water and spread it smoothly on the carpet, iron it dry with a good hot iron, repeating the operation on all parts of the carpet infested with moths. There is no need to press hard, and neither the pile nor the color of the carpet will be injured, and the moths will be destroyed by the heat and steam.

Irons wiped on a cloth dampened with kerosene will not scorch clothes.

Kerosene used to moisten stove polish makes stoves look like new.

Salt and water removes the lime in new curtains and makes washing easier.

Washing fabrics that are inclined to fade should be soaked and rinsed in very soft water to set the color before washing in suds.

To clean a burned pan dip a hard crust of bread in kitchen salt and rub the burned portion, then wash in hot soda and water.

How to Make a Watch-Dial Luminous.

The first thing to do is to procure an ounce of calcium sulphide, luminous. The cost since the war is $1 or more an ounce, but you can fix fifty watches with that amount. This element absorbs light and after being exposed to any bright light for five minutes will glow with a purple light for about four hours, says the Popular Science Monthly.

Remove the crystal from the watch to be treated and with a pen dipped in shellac go over the numerals and the hands. Some may prefer to make dots only at the numerals. Pour out the calcium on a clean piece of paper, dip your finger in it and press some on the moist shellac. Allow about five minutes for it to dry. The calcium not used may be returned to the bottle.

"What I calls comfort," said Charcoal Eph as he reached for the ham, "is w'en a man can turn down a five dollah job kase he done got half a dollar in his pocket. Try some salt, Mr. Jackson."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Blunders by Novelists.

Novelists, even of eminence, are prone to make blunders. Sir Walter Besant in "For Faith and Freedom" wrote after the Eykins had settled in Providence, "Barnaby soon grew tired of this quiet life and went on board a steamer bound for England, promising that we should hear from him." This was in 1686 or 1687, and the first steamer from America to England did not reach Liverpool till July, 1819. Wilkie Collins also made numerous amazing blunders. In "The Duel in Herne Wood" he makes the story open with the receipt of a telegram, and the period is 1817, when twenty years had to elapse before the first telegraphic wire was laid. Three of the characters also talk of "taking the express train to London" in defiance of the fact that the first railway to London was not opened till 1838.

Average of Wind.

Some builders of windmills estimate that a wind sixteen miles an hour may be expected for eight hours per day on the average for every day in the year. This does not mean that such a wind can be relied upon every day in the year, but that the average wind all the year round would equal sixteen miles an hour for eight hours every day.—London Standard.

Kitchener and the Prince.

There is a story current in the army with reference to one of the Prince of Wales' early interviews with Lord Kitchener when the prince was anxious to join the forces. After long argument and discreet pointing out of possible dynastic disaster the prince broke out impetuously:

"But I don't care if I am shot!"

Kitchener is said to have replied:

"Neither do I, sir. But you can't go."

Nevertheless in the end youth and ardor prevailed, and the prince went.—London Mirror.

The Code of Honor.

Dueling is a survival from the ancient judicial combats which were at their height in the middle ages. The first formal duel among English speaking peoples was in 1096. France seems to have been the land in which the "code" had its most flourishing times. From France the practice passed over to England, and from England it came over to America. In the early days of our country duels were quite common, but since Burr killed Hamilton the practice steadily declined. It is today a very rare thing for a duel to take place in any civilized land, and in the United States the foolish custom is really extinct.—New York American.

"Your hired man, out there under the tree, is a most picturesque figure," said the stranger with the flowing necktie "I should like to paint him, and'—

How to Hang a Skirt as Well as a Tailor Does It.

There are few figures with both hips alike. One is nearly always higher than the other and this generally causes some trouble to the home dressmaker in hanging skirts A professional dressmaker gives this advice. Before cutting the skirt get your exact measurements Draw the tape measure snugly around the waist line, then measure around the hips eight inches from the waistline Mark down the length from the waistline to the floor in front, right hip, left hip and back In doing this you get the exact difference in your hips, and a corresponding difference should be allowed when cutting the skirt

Now measure the length of the front pattern If too long lay a tuck about ten inches from the bottom and do this on all gores Cut the smaller gore first, that is, the one that goes over the smaller hip, and then insert a piece of paper to make up the difference in the other hip On no account should one allow the extra inch or two at the bottom as it gives the skirt a drawn look and makes it stand out on that side

How to Destroy Weeds In a Garden

In neglected gardens weeds often grow on the paths Following are three recipes for solutions that will kill these weeds

Alumina	10 parts
Ferric sulphate	10 "
Water	100 "

Dilute with five times its volume of water

Caustic soda	5 parts
Carbonate of soda	15 "
Crude phenol	25 "
Water	100 "

Dilute with twenty times its volume of water

Fresh slaked lime	500 parts
Sulphur	100 "
Water	12,000 "

Boil, then add an equal quantity of water

Whichever of these solutions be used it must be sprinkled over the weeds in dry weather

Why Everybody Should Cultivate at Least One Hobby

We are told to cultivate hobbies to counteract the strain of our daily labor Most people have harmless fads to divert their minds but out in Boston a woman has a most profitable fad—that is it was at one time a fad but it has since developed into a commercial enterprise yielding handsome profits She collects rare and beautiful butterflies, employing a force of trained collectors Often as many as 700 000 specimens are collected annually from all quarters of the globe The most exquisite are used for decorative purposes by jewelers, modistes, florists etc.

HOW TO TEST DIAMONDS AND NOT BUY PASTE—Well made imitation diamonds commonly scratch glass, but they do not cut it. A real diamond drawn lightly over the surface cuts the glass so completely that the slightest blow will cause a separation Another old test is that in which a file is employed In the case of a real stone it is impossible to make any impression with the implement. An imitation article is easily marked Or the suspected gem may be placed between two coins and pressed hard with the fingers It will be impossible to make the slightest impression on a real diamond, but in the case of a paste article the edges may be crushed The effect can be discerned by a critical examination with a lens

When a diamond is quite clean and dry carry out the following experiment Place on the surface a tiny drop of water. Now take a needle or pin and try to move the drop about. If the diamond is genuine the drop can be rolled about intact. On the other hand, where the gem is an imitation the water spreads directly it is touched with the needle point.

Another very good test may be carried out with a tumbler of water Into this put the suspected article and examine its appearance A real diamond will show up in the water with startling clearness, and it can never be confounded with the water On the other hand, the imitation looks indefinite, and it is sometimes difficult to see it clearly at all

Generally speaking, the facets in a real diamond are not cut so truly as those in the imitation This is on account of the fact that diamonds are sold by weight, hence the cutter tries to preserve as much of the original as possible, even making small sacrifices in the matter of regularity In the case of a paste article or a cheaper stone no such need arises, and the cutter endeavors to make the stone appear as perfect in shape as possible To observe such irregularities as sometimes occur in a real diamond it is needful to examine it with great care

It Was Poor.

"What's the worst advice you ever got?" "A friend told me to use my own judgment."—Toledo Blade

OUR FIRST OFFICIAL WAR FEATURE

For years the United States Government cameramen have been busy registering the activities of our soldiers and sailors [illegible] on the battlefields of France [illegible] picture film

As a result the people of Auburn Park will have the first chance on July 4 and 5 at the Cosmopolitan to see what has been done by our boys up there and over there

Pershing's Crusaders is the title of this first official Government picture film of the war and it really constitutes a motion picture history of our first year at war

A successful effort has been made to picture the Government's handling of the enormous task of preparation for war the training [illegible] the building of barracks, cantonments, the clothing and feeding of our troops the making of arms to equip them the building of enormous shipyards and the rapidity with which ships are being built and launched

You will see our boys in training, flights of aeroplanes in daring flight, our great fleets, fortresses, a vigilant patrol [illegible] with destroyers, [illegible] the seas for the hated German pirates

The greater part of the picture shows our boys maybe YOUR boy—in France It follows them along the long road to the front It shows the vast stores of munitions and supplies flowing like rivers through the quaint French villages up to the front line trenches It depicts the first American field gun to throw a shell into the German trenches the first American troops entering and occupying a first line trench the first batch of German prisoners taken by our soldiers the first baptism before a battle

Secretary of War Baker is seen on his first tour of inspection in France examining the great guns the aeroplane squadrons and the American boys who man them General Pershing and staff are seen paying him his visits to the camps of our Crusaders

It is a picture every mother sister or sweetheart of a soldier should see It is better than a letter from the boys over there for at the Cosmopolitan you can see him actually at the grim business and the light hearted play of war

Pershing's Crusaders is distributed by the First National Exhibitors Circuit Inc

Coming Sunday, July 7

Bits of Byplay

By Luke McLuke

Huh!

Said a skinny young woman named Gaddors,
Who is one of our best little padders:
"I may not be fat
In my limbs; but, bless Pat,
My hose never gets Jacob's ladders!"

Giddap!

"Bronx is always blowing about New York being a patriotic town," said the boob. "What is so patriotic about it?"

"Why it has some red lights, a White Way and blue laws," explained the wise guy.

Everybody's Doing It.

The hound dog said: "Oh, woe is me!
I'm humbled, but no richer,
For they have traded me, you see,
For a left handed pitcher."

Wry.

"The grouch always has a wry look on his face," said the old fogy.

"Yes," replied the wise guy. "I have often noticed his nose."

Making Light of Them

A carefree man is William Torr,
He laughs at all his ills;
He makes light of his troubles for
He always burns his bills.

Ouch!

"It certainly is tough to have freckles," sighed the crook.

"Why?" asked the cop.

"No matter how I try to cover up, I am always spotted," replied the crook.

Last.

A cobbler's wife once said to me
"My husband has a past,
But he is good now, although he
Is not too good to last."

Putting on City Airs.

Our popular merchant, Mr. Eli Young has added a few more chairs and nail kegs around the stove in his store for the benefit of the sons of eternal rest. He is also contemplating starting a soup house. Why not? Other large cities have them.—McCreary County (Ky.) Democrat.

Now You Are Saying Something.

Luke McLuke says the word whisky had its origin in the Irish word "uisque." It is not the origin so much as the destination of whisky that demands so much attention and gives so much worry.—Houston Post.

The Wise Fool.

"You should always be sure that you are right," observed the sage.

"And then let in the clutch," added the fool.

One Objection.

"A girl should be educated to do things for herself,"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox, "only sometimes I wish Gladys wouldn't insist on doing her own singing and piano playing."—Washington Star.

St. Peter's cathedral in Rome will accommodate 54,000 people.

First Veterinary School.

As nearly as the facts can be got at, the first veterinary school was founded in the city of Lyons, France, about the middle of May of the year 1761. Since 1761 veterinary schools have spread all over the civilized world, especially in Germany, France, England and the United States of America, in which advanced countries the horse has the benefit of as fine a science as that which exists for his master, man.

Her Proposal.

"Ah, George, did you propose to Vivian?"

"No. She made the proposal before I had a chance to say anything."

"She did? What did she say?"

"She proposed that I should leave the house immediately, and I did."

Simplicity.

I am convinced, both by faith and experience, that to maintain oneself on this earth is not a hardship, but a pastime if we will live simply and wisely, as the pursuits of the simpler nations are still the sports of the more artificial.—Thoreau.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Measles.

"Every rise in temperature of a child should mean isolation as completely as if that child were in fact afflicted with an acute contagious disease," says the Medical Record in discussing means for the prevention of measles. By a "rise in temperature" is understood any temperature higher than 99 degrees F.

For measles is most infectious in its earliest stages, when the symptoms are generally only those of a cold in the head. The typical rash has not yet appeared, but the child is sneezing, blowing a minute spray from its nose with every sneeze. This spray is laden with the germs of the disease. These germs are scattered through the air of the home or the schoolroom and inhaled by the noses of brothers and sisters or schoolmates.

It is then, far more than when the disease has developed to the easily recognizable stage, that infection is spread; therefore it is then that the child must be isolated.

That's Nice.

Things to Worry About.

The jam of Nawawanager has joined the aisles.

Daily Health Hint.

Do not use an ice pick to remove wax from the ear.

Luke McLuke Says:

When you see a scared looking man wearing a tie that is as quiet as a steam calliope you can bet that his wife bought it for him because it matches the prayer rug in the front room.

Some women marry to get even with some other girl and then spend the rest of the time getting even with the mutt they married.

A woman is always a woman. Her daily grind may be a parade between the kitchen and the dining room with food for a husband and six children. But when she gets a moment of leisure she likes to sit down and read a story in which handsome Harold Chalmers gathers beautiful Beatrice Benefice into his strong arms and showers passionate kisses on her face and hair.

What has become of the old fashioned girl who used to hoist her skirts with one hand and who pulled the skirt tight in the back so as to give herself a bustle effect when she was walking?

When the seat of a man's pants is shining he isn't worrying much about his chances of shining in society.

A princess knows that a fellow has brains if his hair is curly.

When mother wants to be nice to father she will get up early and sew a button on his pants. And then father will get up and raise Cain because some one swiped two bits out of one of the pockets.

It takes an optimist to size up a window display of bust forms, hip and other pads and other scenic props and then meet a girl on the street and believe that her shape is just what nature gave her.

It takes a woman three minutes to frisk through the junk in her handbag to locate a nickel. But she doesn't have to hunt through about a dozen pockets when she wants anything, and a man does.

The soulful maiden is interested in the color of his eyes. But the wise widow is interested in the color of his coin.

A girl won't believe it, but the pretty fellow with the dimples isn't as apt to succeed as the homely fellow with lots of cheek.

Laying Hens.

In selecting laying hens look for a full, well developed breast and crop, showing a large pocket in which to carry the food supply. This indicates strength and vigor and ability to consume sufficient food to produce eggs.

Our Daily Special.

Some men have spring fever all year around.

Luke McLuke Says:

Some men are such consistent losers that any time they break even they imagine they are winners.

The sex knowledge people take themselves mighty seriously in their endeavors to enlighten the school children. But it will probably be a long time before Havelock Ellis replaces Mother Goose in our nurseries.

Once in awhile a woman is lucky and has as many clothes ten years later as she had when she was married.

There are all sorts of people in the world, including the man who refers to a burlesque queen as an actress.

The reason why a man tries to make his machine beat everything else on the street and hit nothing but the high places when he is turning corners is because he is going to have plenty of time when they stretch him out on a slab in the morgue.

When you are sitting beside a pretty girl who seems to like you it is mighty hard to keep from resting your arm on the back of the seat she is occupying.

A woman gets pretty mad when a man loses some money gambling. But she doesn't hit up a real boiling rage until she discovers that he has lost some money by accommodating his ornery relatives.

It is easy to make a hit with the average wife. Just tell her how light her bread is and how heavy her baby is.

You can wear cheap clothes and fool some people. But you never fool anybody when you are wearing cheap jewelry.

There are a whole lot of men in the world who can argue learnedly on the constitution and the Monroe doctrine who imagine that Daniel Webster compiled Webster's Dictionary.

Some people seem to think so. But it wasn't Lincoln's whiskers that made him a great man.

And where is the old fashioned man who could prove almost anything by the Bible?

Mushrooms.

Never cook mushrooms a second time. If this is done they may develop unwholesome or dangerous qualities.

The Bonehead Bee.

The intelligence of the honeybee has been greatly overrated, according to Everett F. Phillips, who is the government expert on bee culture. He says that this insect really has no adaptability at all, but a wonderfully perfected instinct. Success in beekeeping, therefore, depends upon studying the bee and giving it exactly what its imperious instincts require. For example, the space between the wall of a hive and the comb in which the honey is to be placed must be exactly a quarter of an inch. If it is more the bees will store honey in the space, and if it is less they will seal it closed. In either case the hive must be broken open to get the honey.—Baltimore Star.

Walk For Health.

A state board of health advises: "Take time to walk—or make time to walk. The pernicious habit of hopping on a trolley car to go a block or two robs many of the necessary health preserving exercise they should have. Walk for health!"

The recommendation is sound, but why should those who ride in automobiles be left out? The inveterate users of motorcars need to be told to walk more quite as much as the rest of us. Nowhere is the riding habit easier to acquire than where an automobile is at beck and call. Even the workers who deem the trolley car a necessity would often be advantaged by keeping their nickels in their own pockets and thereby inviting more physical and mental vigor. We are all sinners when it comes to the failure to keep in touch with the open.—Springfield Republican.

Why You Have Gooseflesh In Chilly Temperatures.

Gooseflesh is nothing more or less than a contracting of the muscles under the skin. This causes the tiny blood vessels also to contract and drives the blood out. The skin tightens, and this acts directly on the hair follicles, which are always at an angle with the skin and not directly inward. Therefore as the skin exerts a pull the angle is changed and the hair is made to stand straight up. As the growth of hair on the body is so slight, the hair follicles are clearly visible, and what we term gooseflesh is the result. But it is nothing more or less than the hair standing on end.

Why We Hear More Clearly on a Frosty Night.

When the atmosphere is dense, as on a frosty night, sounds are carried farther and faster than when it is warm. Ordinarily if you walked three times as far away from the source of a noise as you were when it first reached you the sound would not be one-third of its original intensity, but one-ninth.

How the Magnet Will Hunt the Needles You Drop on the Floor.

Much time is saved in hunting for lost needles if you keep a horseshoe magnet suspended from a string in your workbasket, ready to drop to the floor and hunt your lost needles for you.

Misplaced.

"Yes. But it's always inside of him."

His Own Fault.

The old miser in the story who dropped a five dollar gold piece in the plate at church, mistaking it for a nickel, could get no great satisfaction out of the deacon, as will be recalled, but he was not the man to give up easily.

Accordingly he sought legal advice with a view of instituting a suit at law.

But the lawyer whom he consulted was one of those rare and gifted souls who would much rather be witty than rich—or almost anything else for that matter.

"Sir," said he at once, "you have no case. You were guilty of contributory negligence."—Exchange.

HOW

To Preserve Fruit Without Using Any Sugar

FRUIT for use in pie or salads or as stewed fruit can be put up or canned without the use of any sugar at all, according to the canning specialists of the agricultural department at Washington. They therefore advise those who, because of the high price of sugar, have been thinking of reducing the amount of fruit they put up, to can as much of their surplus as possible by the use of boiling water when sugar sirup is beyond their means. Any fruit, they say, may be successfully sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of the hot sirup. The use of sugar, of course, is desirable in the canning of all kinds of fruits and makes a better and ready sweetened product. Moreover, most of the fruits when canned in water alone do not retain their natural flavor, texture and color as well as fruit put up in sirup. Fruit canned without sugar to be used for sauces or desserts must be sweetened.

Can the product the same day it is picked is the direction. Cull, stem or seed, and clean the fruit by placing it in a strainer and pouring water over it until it is clean. Pack the product thoroughly in glass jars or tin cans until they are full. Use the handle of a tablespoon, wooden ladle or table knife for packing purposes, these instructions declare. Pour over the fruit boiling water from a kettle, place rubbers and caps in position, partially seal if using glass jars, seal completely if using tin cans. Place the containers in a sterilizing vat, such as a wash boiler with false bottom, or other receptacle improvised for the purpose. If using a hot water bath outfit, process for thirty minutes, count time after the water has reached the boiling point; the water must cover the highest jar in container. After sterilizing remove packs, seal glass jars, wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place. If you are canning in tin cans it will improve the product, these instructions say, to plunge the cans quickly into cold water immediately after sterilization. When using a steam pressure canner instead of the hot water bath sterilize for ten minutes with five pounds of steam pressure. Never allow the pressure to go over ten pounds.

THE WHITE RACES.

Why They Are Unable to Colonize the Tropics.

One reason—and a most important one—why white races are unable to colonize the tropics, dying out inevitably in a generation or two, is that they have not enough sweat glands. The sweat glands are the refrigerating apparatus of the body. They draw water from the blood and pour it out upon the surface of the skin, where its evaporation keeps the temperature of the body down. That is why we make a person with a fever perspire profusely. It lowers the temperature. In drawing off the water the sweat glands draw off also many impurities from the blood, but their most important function is the regulation of the temperature of the blood.

Two University of Chicago students, Elbert Clark and Rushkin H. Llamon, made a count of the sweat glands in the several races in the Philippine Islands. This they have just published.

Their report shows that for every square centimeter of the skin area on the fingers white Americans have 558 sweat glands, American negroes have 597, Filipinos 653, Moros 684, adult Negritos 709, Hindus 788 and Negrito youths and children 950.

As all the sweat glands are fully formed at birth and their number remains the same throughout life, the greater number found among the Negrito youths is no doubt due to a corresponding difference in size of individuals. As the body grows the skin area increases and the glands become more dispersed.

It is evident that 709 sweat glands will pour out nearly 27 per cent more perspiration than will 558. Therefore there will be 27 per cent more evaporation, and so the Negrito is comparatively comfortable in a tropical heat that the white man finds almost unbearable.

How to Cure an Attack of Choking Without Doctor.

Choking is one of the most uncomfortable of sensations and if it continues long enough is very dangerous. If the foreign body that causes the choking lodges back of the pharynx it obstructs the passage to the lungs and causes the sufferer to get blue, gasp and the eyes to bulge out, and if not soon removed death will ensue. If, on the other hand, the substance passes on into the gullet and sticks it will cause a great difficulty in swallowing, but no cough or difficulty in breathing. The old treatment of slapping such a sufferer on the back is an excellent one, as this often helps to dislodge the trouble. If the foreign body is in the pharynx or back part of the mouth it can be often dislodged by pushing with the finger, or if this is unsuccessful it causes vomiting, which may bring it out of the throat.

How Water May Be Run Noiselessly For a Bath.

In running water for a bath the rush of water is apt to disturb occupants of the house who may be sleeping, if the hour is especially early or late. To avoid the noise slip the bath spray over the faucet. The water will flow quietly and quite as rapidly. If you have no bath spray muffle with a towel and water will go through it.

Altitudinous.

"Binks appears to have risen high in the world." "Yes. He is even above reproach."—Buffalo Express.

What Makes a Car Old.

The life of the bearings of a car determines the usefulness of the entire machine. A car with badly worn bearings is an old car, even though it may have traveled less than 10,000 miles, whereas one which has seen 100,000 miles of use and still has its bearings in good condition is, comparatively speaking, a new machine.

Wear on bearings is determined by four conditions—the load which that bearing carries, the speed at which the bearing surfaces move over each other, the nature of those surfaces and their ability to resist wear and the lubrication which these surfaces receive and its ability to prevent the formation of the destructive heat of friction.

The matter of load becomes a matter of size, for with a given load it is but natural that with a large surface over which to distribute the pressure the load on each square inch of bearing surface will be less. This means that the life of bearings will, in general, be in proportion to their size.—Leslie's Weekly.

Essentials of Song Voice.

Many good singers only think their songs. These fall short of the powers they might attain. The listeners hear the music, but they are not thrilled.

Other singers have feeling, but they fail to display will. Their voices necessarily lack fiber and are too soft and sentimental. Such singing suggests merely passive sympathy and not the desire to help actively.

Good, honest sentiment and the ring of good will, implying action, are wanted in good music. There is no appeal in the song voice that only wills. The voice of authority and domination is not pleasing. The essentials of the song voice embrace all the singer's powers, faculties and attributes. They include not only will, but also thought and feeling, and that voice is lacking which fails to combine all three of these elements.—Exchange.

The Cabbage Butterfly.

The most destructive enemy of the cabbage and related crops is the cabbage butterfly. This lays its eggs upon a cabbage leaf. The eggs hatch into green caterpillars, and these eat the leaves. In 1883, says the Journal of Heredity, an ichneumon fly was imported from Europe to keep the cabbage butterfly in check. The fly lays its eggs in the body of the caterpillar; the larvae which hatch from these eggs eat the caterpillar's insides, cut their way out through the empty skin and spin cocoons from which the flies emerge.

"It is interesting to note," adds the Journal of Heredity, "that the parasite is in turn preyed upon by a superparasite, a little chalcis fly, 'and so on down ad infinitum,' no doubt."

"His wife makes him go to church every Sunday."

"How do you know she makes him go?"

"Because he goes."—Detroit Saturday Night.

An "Orderly" Election.

I was in Puerto Mexico on election day when General Candido Aguilar was running for governor of Vera Cruz against General Gavira. You would have thought he had at least a good running start by being Carranza's candidate and engaged to his daughter, but Candido never takes any chances. He had two freight trains of decanted Constitutionalist soldiers, armed beyond the teeth, in that town bivouacked around the polls and the telegraph and cable offices. You had to step over sleeping arsenals to send a telegram. The simple job of that soldiery was to insure a constitutional and orderly election by keeping the Gavirittas from exercising a suffrage called by the new constitution universal. I don't know first hand just how matters stood in the other towns of the state of Vera Cruz, but on reaching Mexico City several days later I read in the capital papers that General Aguilar had been elected governor by substantial majorities after a very "orderly" election. —George Marvin in World's Work.

Why People Die Early.

High blood pressure belongs to a group of old age diseases—Bright's disease, arteriosclerosis, heart failure, apoplexy and paralysis. People naturally die of them at seventy to eighty years of age. If they fall victims at an earlier age there is something wrong. What is wrong? Why do people die prematurely? I believe it is because we fail to search for and find the symptoms of these organic diseases. There is no question at all that if we can discover the right agent to fight the toxins that live in the colon or large bowel the average man and woman should live to be at least a hundred. The American people are going to take death prevention more seriously than they do now. Some day when men and women die under fifty years of age a coroner's inquest will be called to determine the cause of their untimely demise.—Dr. W. S. Sadler in Collier's Weekly.

Military Orders.

The story goes that a raw battalion of rough backwoodsmen, who had "volunteered," once joined General Grant. He admired their fine physique, but distrusted the capacity of their uncouth commander to handle troops promptly and efficiently in the field, so he said: "Colonel, I want to see your men at work. Call them to attention and order them to march with shouldered arms in close column to the left flank." Without a moment's hesitation the colonel yelled to his fellow ruffians: "Boys, look wild thar! Make ready to thicken and go left endways! Tote yer guns! Git!" The maneuver proved a brilliant success, and the self elected colonel was forthwith officially commissioned.—Manchester Guardian.

RIGHT LIVING.

In the firm control of our thoughts lies the secret of the most wonderful possession of which we can boast—character. It is as much a matter of habit as of will, this being always honorable, truthful, just. Having formed our principles of right living, conscience invariably points to a whole hearted loyalty to them. And when baser motives try to sway the mind, why, here is just where your will power may profit by exercise.

Bridges.

The only mention of a bridge in the canonical Scriptures is indirectly in the principality of Geshur, a district to the northeast of the sea of Galilee. At this place a bridge is said to exist still which is called by the Arabs "the bridge of the sons of Jacob." The Romans are credited with being the first constructors of arched bridges over streams.

Luke McLuke Says:

What has become of the old fashioned pink sea shell that used to repose on the old fashioned whatnot?

There is something wrong with the man who doesn't feel good when a friend has a streak of good luck.

A young man doesn't know it. But the boss can tell the man who is capable of doing a higher class of work by watching how he does the small jobs he is started in on.

There are lots of people who will tell you that the latchstring is always out. But they do not mention the fact that there is a bulldog loose in the front yard.

Some men are so worried over the European situation that they can't hold their own.

A man will always agree with you when you tell him that he is overworked and needs a rest.

A sob sister claims that a kiss should last for at least thirty seconds. Huh! Three seconds is long enough for a wife to find out what she wants to know.

The sphinx isn't the biggest mystery in the world. The most mysterious thing in the world is the opening.

The Philadelphia mint turns out 2,000,000 coins a day.

Emergency Shoehorn.

Once when I had been in swimming I found myself without a shoehorn, but a friend showed me a little trick that supplied my need. Simply fold your handkerchief two or three times and lay it on the shoe at the heel, holding one end of it. As you press your heel down into the shoe gradually draw on the end of the handkerchief, and when the heel is nearly all the way down draw out the improvised horn. The shoe will slip on the foot easily.—Popular Science Monthly.

Too Fresh.

He flirted with her in the pew,
He was too fresh, was Walter,
But May made him feel very blue
By handing him the Psalter.

The Wise Fool.

"We never get so old that we cannot absorb information," observed the sage.

"That's right," replied the fool. "Even a chorus girl can learn something new every day."

Queer.

It is a funny thing and yet
It is quite true, you'll find—
The faster you run into debt
The more you get behind.

How the Condor Is Caught.

Many birds cannot fly straight up. They must rise at a very gentle incline. They must get onward motion before their wings can get full effect of the air. It is said that the mode of taking the condor is to build a pen, say, forty of fifty feet in diameter and six feet high and put a carcass in the middle of it. The condor alights, but cannot again rise at an angle which will take him over the fence.

Many heavy bodied, short winged ducks rise from the water at so small an angle that they must use both feet and wings for thirty or forty feet in order to get onward motion enough to give effectiveness to their wings by meeting larger masses of still air.

Norway's Long Day.

Summer time brings more than two months of continuous daylight at Wardburg, Norway, in the "Land of the Midnight Sun." That little village near the North cape has the longest day of any civilized community in the world, extending from May 21 to July 22, during which period the sun is at all times visible except when obscured by clouds.
